LANE, EX-SEC'Y. OF INTERIOR, DIES

OPERATION AT MAYO HOSPITAL PROVES FATAL

SERVED FOR SEVEN YEARS IN WILSON'S CABINET; WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN SURVIVE

Rochester, Minn., May 18—Franklin K. Lane former Secretary of the Interior, died at the local hospital here at 6:10 o'clock this morning. Death was due to angina pectoris. Mr. Lane was operated on May 6 for gall stones and appendicitis and was said to be recovering when heart disease which he had been suffering with for some time became worse and he succumbed.

Death Unexpected

Immediately after he had recovered from the anesthetic, Mr. Lane said: "I am surprised to be alive today, and I hope to be able to live many years and to do as many good things as I can."

Following his resignation from Mr. Wilson's Cabinet, Mr. Lane thought to recover his health and came here in January of this year. He was obliged to spend the winter in a warmer climate, and chose California, returning here early this month. The doctors hoped in operating to remove the cause of the heart trouble, but last night a severe attack came on and he passed away this morning.

Resigned from Cabinet in 1920

It was often said of Franklin K. Lane that if he had been born in the United States instead of Canada, he would have been presidential timber. After serving seven years in President Wilson's cabinet as Secretary of the Interior, he resigned his $12,000-a-year post in expensive Washington early in 1920 "in justice to his family" to become vice president and legal adviser of the Mexican petroleum companies controlled by Edward L. Doheny.

Born near Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, July 15, 1864, the son of a Canadian doctor who removed to California during the boy's childhood, young Lane was educated at the University of California from which he was graduated in 1886. By reason of his scholastic achievements the honorary degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him some years later by his alma mater and by New York and Brown Universities and the University of North Carolina.

GOVT; ASKS RUSS TO FREE YANKS

AMERICAN PRISONERS MUST BE FREED BEFORE TRADE IS RESUMED

Washington, May 18—The United States refuses to have any dealings with the Russian government until all Americans held prisoner are released.

With a degree of indignation that conveyed a world of meaning, spokesmen of the Washington government Tuesday outlined their attitude toward Russia.

Reports indicate that the Americans are being mistreated. Men and women who went to Russia on business errands have been thrown into jail and held practically as political hostages.

Tactics Postpone Recognition

If Moscow imagines the United States will be influenced by such tactics no greater mistake could be made.

The question is being asked, "What can the United States do about it?" The idea of using physical force to maintain American rights abroad, as is so often proclaimed in congress, is in this case at least impracticable.

U. S. Has Weapon

Our officials, therefore are compelled to fall back to the use of moral force and diplomatic pressure. For one thing, the United States now has seats in the supreme council and in the council of ambassadors. The chances are that American diplomatic representatives will omit no opportunity to take sides against a recognition of Russia or a resumption of trade.

The Harding-Hughes policy will be an important factor in allied councils hereafter.

Reds Disappointed

Washington—Advices indicate the Russian soviet leaders suffered keen disappointment when the United States declined their invitation to negotiate a trade-agreement. These advices indicate Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, former Bolshevik "ambassador" to the United States, and Washington D. Vanderlip raised the hopes of the Moscow authorities, for The Izvestia, official organ of the Moscow government, once quoted Martens as follows:

"I am convinced our return to America will take place very soon. I have no doubt the question of resuming relations with soviet Russia has been already decided in the affirmative in the Republican party."

Mr. Vanderlip, in an interview with Pravda, official organ of the Communist party, declared that "it will be easier to reach an understanding with the United States than it was with Great Britain."

BUYING LIQUOR WILL BE HARD TASK IN STATE

PHYSICIANS MUST FURNISH BONDS UNDER MATHESON LAW; STATE WILL BE BONE DRY FOR SEVERAL WEEKS.

Madison, Wis—Buying liquor in Wisconsin is going to be an intricate and precarious proposition even on the part of sick persons, under operation of the Matheson law which will soon be in operation. Physicans will find themselves hadicapped in the indiscriminate sale of prescriptions, with beer placed in the same category as whiskey.

Must Receive Permits

The state will be bone dry for several weeks, while doctors are securing permits from the prohibition commissioner, and furnishing bond as required by the new law. Application for a permit by druggists and doctors involves answer to a number of requirements, and cannot be made until the commissioner is satisfied.

MUST FURNISH PROOF

Residence of at least 12 months in the state, before issuance of permit to any doctor or druggist can be made, is necessary together with proof that he has not been convicted for violation of the prohibition law, that he is not of intemperate habits and addicted to the use of any narcotic drug, and that he will not keep alcohol in his place of business equal to more than 2 per cent of the value of other goods.

Will Administor Oath

Restriction does not stop there, however. Affidavit sworn to by the druggist is required before any sale of liquor, testifying that the purchaser will not use the liquor for any other than medicinal purpose, nor allow others to so use it. The oath may be administered by the druggist.

Record must also be kept of the doctor issuing the prescription, the kind and amount of the liquor, sales on previous prescription to such person within six months, signature of purchaser an dindividual making the sale, copy of the prescription and the affidavit concerning purpose of the sale.

D. J. GEROW LEAVES FOR TOUR OF STATE

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gerow and son, Thomas, will leave tomorrow in their car for Sheboygan and other points in the state, to consider some hotel propositions which have been submitted to them. They have not decided on a new location, having recently sold their interests in the Hotel Witter to L. P. Daniels. Mr. and Mrs. Gerow came to this city nine years ago, when they took over the management of the Witter, which was in a very poor condition. Under their management it has been enlarged and otherwise improved until it is now one of the best known hotels in the state. The residents of this city regret to see them leaving, and wish them the best success wherever they decide on making their new home.

PATROLMEN SEE MANY INTER-STATE CARS

According to the statement of F. F. Mengel, Division Engineer of the Wisconsin State Highway Commission, the annual tourists trips through Wisconsin has stated. The patrolmen who are at work on the various state highways, report that many cars from other states are travelling north where the owners will spend the summer around the famous lakes of Northern Wisconsin.

POLAND ASKS SUPPORT OF U. S. IN SILESIA

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 18—Poland requests America's support in the settlement of the Upper Silesian question in answer to Secretary of State, Hughes' statement and the American representatives abroad that the United States would take no part in the discussion concerning the Silesian question.

So far as at present may be seen, the American Representatives on the Supreme Council, the Council of Ambassadors and the Reparation Commission would not so much as express an opinion as to the settlement.

MILWAUKEE MAN TALKS FINANCE

HEAD OF SECOND WARD SECURITIES CO. TELLS OF CHANGES IN BANKING AND FINANCING METHODS

Willits Pollock, president of the Second Ward Securities Co., one of the best known of the younger investment bankers in Wisconsin, told a large audience at the noonday luncheon of the Rotary Club, that the financing of industries in the future would be on a different basis than in the past, saying that it was his opinion that the financing would be done by a funded debt, in the form of bond issues similar to the large issues now put on the market by various industries. He said it was a danger to American business and commerce to tie up the liquid funds of the banking institutions to finance long time funded debts of industries. He predicted the small banking house would ultimately get into the underwriting of bond issues for companies needing permanent financing.

Says Great Review

Mr. Pollock recalled the bonding and security history of the past few months telling of the great review of industrial liquidation passing before the investment bankers of the country. The review consisted of the issues of foreign governments rubber, automobile, paper and other industries seeking larger capital.

"Wisconsin uses only one fifth of all the capital that it produces," Mr. Pollock said, "We have made a survey of the business carried on by the two largest Wisconsin investment banking institutions and have found that 80 per cent of the surplus capital of Wisconsin people is invested in securities outside of Wisconsin." He spoke of the great advantage it was to Wisconsin industrial development and advocated keeping as large a share as possible for financing Wisconsin industries.

To Change Headquarters

President Brownell, a member of the Ashland Rotary Club, gave a short talk at the noonday luncheon. He invited local people to visit Ashland and Northland College of which he is the head.

The Rotarians voted unanimously to move their headquarters to the Dixon Hotel. A. F. Jones, proprietor of the Dixon Hotel, has consented to remodel the room formerly occupied by the buffet into a first-class private dining room for the use of the club. It is understood that work will start immediately in remodeling the room for the club where they will hold their regular weekly luncheon meetings.

FIND FATHER OF DEMENTED WOMAN TODAY

FATHER OF GIRL FOUND WANDERING IN WOODS EXPECTED AT SHERIFF'S OFFICE

FATHER CLAIMS GIRL

At a late hour this afternoon, John Szerslorske, father of the girl appeared at the County Jail to take her back to the family home on a farm near Pray. He stated that she has been missing for a week. She has been mentally defective since she was a small child but this has been the first time she has ever run away from home.

While the name of the demented young girl who was brought to the sheriff's office yesterday is still unknown, Sheric Mueller has been notified by authorities at Neillsville, from whom the girl escaped a week ago, that the father of the girl, a Polish farmer living year Pray, has been located and will arrive as soon as possible in Wisconsin Rapids to identify the girl.

Communication with Neillsville this morning revealed the fact that a young girl, mentally unbalanced, had been in the custody of the sheriff at that place, but before any clue as to her identity could be found, she broke away from her guards and had not been heard from since.

Held At Neillsville

It is believed that the girl, about 23 years old, living with her father on a farm near Pray, Wis., strayed from her home after being sent for the cattle, and was picked up later by the officials in the city of Neillsville. Evading her watchful guardians, she tried to find her way back to her home, but her feeble memory failed to direct her properly and the passing hours found her alone and helpless in the woods.

The unfortunate girl evidently wandered through the countryside for several days. Finally, her clothes tattered, shoeless, stockingless, her limbs and body bruised and bleeding, she was picked up on Monday by some farmers near City Point, who turned her over to Fred Nelson, station agent at that place.

On Monday evening, the girl was brought to Pittsville, from where Deputy Sheriff George Faevell brought her to the office of the local sheriff. Her condition is improving, although she still has a slight fever as a result of her exposure. Callouses on her feet indicate the weary miles she must have covered before her discovery. She still speaks disconnectedly of her experience, but no accurate information can be obtained from her.

Hougen; Secretary- Mrs. O. Garrison; Treasurer, Mrs. F. W. Calkins.

Plans for the coming year were discussed and it was decided to carry on the work started in the Howe School grounds where the club with the assistance of others did much to beautify the grounds.

GOVT; ASKS RUSS TO FREE YANKS

AMERICAN PRISONERS MUST BE FREED BEFORE TRADE IS RESUMED

Washington, May 18—The United States refuses to have any dealings with the Russian government until all Americans held prisoner are released.

With a degree of indignation that conveyed a world of meaning, spokesmen of the Washington government Tuesday outlined their attitude toward Russia.

Reports indicate that the Americans are being mistreated. Men and women who went to Russia on business errands have been thrown into jail and held practically as political hostages.

Tactics Postpone Recognition

If Moscow imagines the United States will be influenced by such tactics no greater mistake could be made.

The question is being asked, "What can the United States do about it?" The idea of using physical force to maintain American rights abroad, as is so often proclaimed in congress, is in this case at least impracticable.

U. S. Has Weapon

Our officials, therefore are compelled to fall back to the use of moral force and diplomatic pressure. For one thing, the United States now has seats in the supreme council and in the council of ambassadors. The chances are that American diplomatic representatives will omit no opportunity to take sides against a recognition of Russia or a resumption of trade.

The Harding-Hughes policy will be an important factor in allied councils hereafter.

Reds Disappointed

Washington—Advices indicate the Russian soviet leaders suffered keen disappointment when the United States declined their invitation to negotiate a trade agreement. These advices indicate Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, former Bolshevik "ambassador" to the United States, and Washington D. Vanderlip raised the hopes of the Moscow authorities, for The Izvestia, official organ of the Moscow government, once quoted Martens as follows:

"I am convinced our return to America will take place very soon. I have no doubt the question of resuming relations with soviet Russia has been already decided in the affirmative in the Republican party."

Mr. Vanderlip, in an interview with Pravda, official organ of the Communist party, declared that "it will be easier to reach an understanding with the United States than it was with Great Britain."

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Washington, D. C., May 18—The condition Tuesday night of Chief Justice White of the Supreme court who several days ago underwent an operation at a local hospital, was reported to be serious.

A turn for the worse came late in the afternoon after he had apparently been making rapid progress in his convalescence.

"Attending physicians would not discuss the case but indicated that the condition of the patient was precarious.

DETOUR REPORTED ON 18

A detour, made necessary by the building of a bridge at Freemont, is reported on State Highway 18. The detour is made off from 18 onto 22 and 54 to New London where it is again possible to travel on 18.

BUYING LIQUOR WILL BE HARD TASK IN STATE

PHYSICIANS MUST FURNISH BONDS UNDER MATHESON LAW; STATE WILL BE BONE DRY FOR SEVERAL WEEKS.

Madison, Wis—Buying liquor in Wisconsin is going to be an intricate and precarious proposition even on the part of sick persons, under operation of the Matheson law which will soon be in operation. Physicans will find themselves hadicapped in the indiscriminate sale of prescriptions, with beer placed in the same category as whiskey.

Must Receive Permits

The state will be bone dry for several weeks, while doctors are securing permits from the prohibition commissioner, and furnishing bond as required by the new law. Application for a permit by druggists and doctors involves answer to a number of requirements, and cannot be made until the commissioner is satisfied.

MUST FURNISH PROOF

Residence of at least 12 months in the state, before issuance of permit to any doctor or druggist can be made, is necessary together with proof that he has not been convicted for violation of the prohibition law, that he is not of intemperate habits and addicted to the use of any narcotic drug, and that he will not keep alcohol in his place of business equal to more than 2 per cent of the value of other goods.

Will Administor Oath

Restriction does not stop there, however. Affidavit sworn to by the druggist is required before any sale of liquor, testifying that the purchaser will not use the liquor for any other than medicinal purpose, nor allow others to so use it. The oath may be administered by the druggist.

Record must also be kept of the doctor issuing the prescription, the kind and amount of the liquor, sales on previous prescription to such person within six months, signature of purchaser an dindividual making the sale, copy of the prescription and the affidavit concerning purpose of the sale.

D. J. GEROW LEAVES FOR TOUR OF STATE

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gerow and son, Thomas, will leave tomorrow in their car for Sheboygan and other points in the state, to consider some hotel propositions which have been submitted to them. They have not decided on a new location, having recently sold their interests in the Hotel Witter to L. P. Daniels. Mr. and Mrs. Gerow came to this city nine years ago, when they took over the management of the Witter, which was in a very poor condition. Under their management it has been enlarged and otherwise improved until it is now one of the best known hotels in the state. The residents of this city regret to see them leaving, and wish them the best success wherever they decide on making their new home.

PATROLMEN SEE MANY INTER-STATE CARS

According to the statement of F. F. Mengel, Division Engineer of the Wisconsin State Highway Commission, the annual tourists trips through Wisconsin has stated. The patrolmen who are at work on the various state highways, report that many cars from other states are travelling north where the owners will spend the summer around the famous lakes of Northern Wisconsin.

POLAND ASKS SUPPORT OF U. S. IN SILESIA

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 18—Poland requests America's support in the settlement of the Upper Silesian question in answer to Secretary of State. Hughes' statement and the American representatives abroad that the United States would take no part in the discussion concerning the Silesian question.

So far as at present may be seen, the American Representatives on the Supreme Council, the Council of Ambassadors and the Reparation Commission would not so much as express an opinion as to the settlement.

DISTRICT MEETING OF WOMEN AT CLINTONVILLE

Wisconsin Rapids Women's Club delegates to the annual meeting of the and organizations are invited to send district clubs at Clintonville as guests of the Woman's Club of that city.

A party of local women are expected to attend. The complete list is not made up however it is understood that Mesdames W. F. Kellogg, M. H. Jackson, R. J. Mott, Julius Winden are contemplating attending. If the weather permits a motor party may be arranged; otherwise the delegates will go via the Green Bay road.

The local federation is going to make a report before the district convention showing the activities of the local organizations during the last year.

MILWAUKEE MAN TALKS FINANCE

HEAD OF SECOND WARD SECURITIES CO. TELLS OF CHANGES IN BANKING AND FINANCING METHODS

Willits Pollock, president of the Second Ward Securities Co., one of the best known of the younger investment bankers in Wisconsin, told a large audience at the noonday luncheon of the Rotary Club, that the financing of industries in the future would be on a different basis than in the past, saying that it was his opinion that the financing would be done by a funded debt, in the form of bond issues similar to the large issues now put on the market by various industries. He said it was a danger to American business and commerce to tie up the liquid funds of the banking institutions to finance long time funded debts of industries. He predicted the small banking house would ultimately get into the underwriting of bond issues for companies needing permanent financing.

Says Great Review

Mr. Pollock recalled the bonding and security history of the past few months telling of the great review of industrial liquidation passing before the investment bankers of the country. The review consisted of the issues of foreign governments rubber, automobile, paper and other industries seeking larger capital.

"Wisconsin uses only one fifth of all the capital that it produces," Mr. Pollock said, "We have made a survey of the business carried on by the two largest Wisconsin investment banking institutions and have found that 80 per cent of the surplus capital of Wisconsin people is invested in securities outside of Wisconsin." He spoke of the great advantage it was to Wisconsin industrial development and advocated keeping as large a share as possible for financing Wisconsin industries.

To Change Headquarters

President Brownell, a member of the Ashland Rotary Club, gave a short talk at the noonday luncheon. He invited local people to visit Ashland and Northland College of which he is the head.

The Rotarians voted unanimously to move their headquarters to the Dixon Hotel. A. F. Jones, proprietor of the Dixon Hotel, has consented to remodel the room formerly occupied by the buffet into a first-class private dining room for the use of the club. It is understood that work will start immediately in remodeling the room for the club where they will hold their regular weekly luncheon meeting.

FIND FATHER OF DEMENTED WOMAN TODAY

FATHER OF GIRL FOUND WANDERING IN WOODS EXPECTED AT SHERIFF'S OFFICE

FATHER CLAIMS GIRL

At a late hour this afternoon, John Szerslorske, father of the girl appeared at the County Jail to take her back to the family home on a farm near Pray. He stated that she has been missing for a week. She has been mentally defective since she was a small child but this has been the first time she has ever run away from home.

While the name of the demented young girl who was brought to the sheriff's office yesterday is still unknown, Sherie Mueller has been notified by authorities at Neillsville, from whom the girl escaped a week ago, that the father of the girl, a Polish farmer living year Pray, has been located and will arrive as soon as possible in Wisconsin Rapids to identify the girl.

Communication with Neillsville this morning revealed the fact that a young girl, mentally unbalanced, had been in the custody of the sheriff at that place, but before any clue as to her identity could be found, she broke away from her guards and has not been heard from since.

Held At Neillsville

It is believed that the girl, about 23 years old, living with her father on a farm near Pray, Wis., strayed from her home after being sent for the cattle, and was picked up later by the officials in the city of Neillsville. Evading her watchful guardians, she tried to find her way back to her home, but her feeble memory failed to direct her properly and the passing hours found her alone and helpless in the woods.

The unfortunate girl evidently wandered through the countryside for several days. Finally, her clothes tattered, shoeless, stockingless, her limbs and body bruised and bleeding, she was picked up on Monday by some farmers near City Point, who turned her over to Fred Nelson, station agent at that place.

On Monday evening, the girl was brought to Pittsville, from where Deputy Sheriff George Faevell brought her to the office of the local sheriff. Her condition is improving, although she still has a slight fever as a result of her exposure. Callouses on her feet indicate the weary miles she must have covered before her discovery. She still speaks disconnectedly of her experience, but no accurate information can be obtained from her.

(By Associated Press)

Berlin, Germany, May 18—Eitel Freiderich, second son of the former Emperor of Germany was today found illegally smuggling capital into Holland, through the Phillip von Gruffon Corporation.

In consideration of the fact that he did not act through dishonorable motives. Eitel Friederich was only fined 5,000 marks.

Last November, it was announced that different members of the former royal family had smuggled into Holland, over 250,000,000 marks, and that those involved in the smuggling would be severely punished.

MRS. BERGDOLL GETS FINE

Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, mother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, has been fined only $7,000 for her part in Grover's and Erwin's draft dodging and escape from this country. In default of payment Mamma Bergdoll, who is worth a million dollars or more will have to go to jail for one year.

There are a whole string of revenues coming to the government for those who have been implicated in the Bergdoll escape. The Bergdoll donations to the coffers of the government may help to cut down the war debt and hasten the time when our cocoa colas will be sold without the extra one cent war tax but that is a small matter to the whole United States. Money will pay off Grover's cowardice to the family and there it ends. The government should not be satisfied with a few paltry thousands and the fathers and mothers of American heroes who died in France to make the U. S. safe for Mamma Bergdoll's millions, will not accept that as a final settlement. Money, not a hundred million of Bergdoll's tainted dollars, will bring back the good boys who were sacrificed in the slaughter. There is no revenge satisfied in dollars and cents. The United States will not forget Grover's yellow streak. There will be plenty of people waiting for him.

Daily News. In 1889 he was admitted to the bar of California and from 1897 until 1902 served as Corporation Counsel of San Francisco. In the latter year he was the Democratic candidate for Governor of California but was not elected. He received the party vote of the State legislature in 1903 for United States senator. Appointed a member of Interstate Commerce Commission by President Roosevelt in 1905, later becoming chairman. Mr. Lane was serving in that capacity when he was made Secretary of the Interior.

During his service on the Interstate Commerce Commission he earned the reputation of being a progressive. His decisions in the railway cases were said to have been almost invariably pleasing to men of advanced ideas. He favored for years a National Corporation Commission similar to the Interstate Commerce Commission with power to regulate all business enterprises engaged in interstate commerce as the most effective remedy for trust evils. He also advocated a commission form of government for Alaska. He was elected a member of the permanent International Railway Commission, organized in 1910 at the International Railway Congress in Berne, Switzerland.

Heads Mexican Commission

In 1916 Mr. Lane headed the American delegates at a joint conference with High Commissioners from Mexico as a result of which a protocol was signed at Atlantic City and United States troops were withdrawn from that country.

When the United States entered the war in 1917, Secretary Lane in a number of public speeches outlined the country's purposes and urged business men to show "sacrifices as worthy as those of the men on their way to the trenches." In numerous addresses in behalf of the Liberty Loans he declared the defeat of the United States was "unthinkable" and that the government was determined to see the war fought to a finish. When peace came he devised plans for the employment of returning troops urged congress to federalize the Americanization of the foreign-born, aided in the reconstruction of France and other war-torn nations and advocated immediate passage of a bil lto give farms to soldiers. He was also active in the council for National Defense and the American Red Cross.

Supported League of Nations

Secretary Lane was a keen supporter of the League of Nations covenant and advocated ratification of the peace treaty of Versailles.

In the Summer of 1919 Secretary Lane recommended to the President the called of a conference of representatives of American capital, labor and industry to discuss economic problems. The National Industrial Conference of which Mr. Lane was made chairman was the result. As chairman of the Railroad Wage Commission in 1918 he helped to settle a number of strikes and avert threatened walkouts.

Mr. Lane married in 189; Miss Anne Wintermute of Tacoma, Wash. Two children, were born to them, Mrs. Nancy Lane Kauffman of Washington and Lieutenant Franklin K. Lane, Jr., U. S. A. of Los Angeles, Cal.

MITCHELL LOSES TO JOHNNY MENDELSOHN

the Cream City Athletic club at the Auditorium Monday night and on the strength of his success in sending Richie canvasward on those three occasions, managed to emerge the winner.

The fight itself was a sizzler, in fact one of the most sizzling ever offered by a pair of fighters before a Milwaukee crowd of fans. For ten innings they swung at each other ala Babe Ruth. There were very few dull moments during the course of the proceedings, each gladiator trying his utmost to bring the contest to an abrupt termination.

The fighting Mitchell heart played another important part in the Monday encounter. With the tide of battle against him in the earlier stages the $13,000 or more worth of fans and fanettes saw Mitchell come back in the latter stages and fight Mendelsohn toe to toe. He could not overcome the commanding lead assumed by the Lapham Parker, however, and when the final bell sounded Richie, unmarked by the gruelling combat in which he had engaged, had to be credited with a loss.

TEX RICKARD PICKS OFFICIALS FOR BOUT

New York—So much talk has been heard about the possibility of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout going the limit of twelve rounds without a decision in view of the law governing boxing in New Jersey that Promoter Tex Rickard has about decided on a plan to officially name the winner in any even outside of a knockout.

Realizing that the referee, whoever he will be, will have no power to proclaim the victor Rickard is thinking of appointing three honorary judges. They will sit at the ringside and in the course of the battle, with the understanding that they will report to him on the evening of July 2, in New York, the result of their findings. The Jersey officials can't object to such an arrangement and Rickard feels that the boxers themsevles should be willing to abide by such a verdict.

Certainly some decision will be necessary in order to settle wagers made on the bout. The contest is, first of all, a sporting proposition, and as such is bound to be the biggest betting occasion in the history of the ring.

Rickard has already picked the judges. They are Lord Lonsdale, the foremost follower of boxing in England and donor of all the championship belts fought for there; Jim Corbett, one-time champion heavyweight, and Jim Jeffries, who also held the title. Lord Lonsdale has been invited to come from England to the bout as Rickard's guest, and so has Jeffries Corbett, who is here, has accepted a similar invitation. Two former champions and the best known sportsman in England, if not in the world! A most notable trio to decide anything of a fistic nature, everybody must agree.

BRITISH POLO TEAM DEFEAT YANK STARS

London—Ten thousand spectators saw an English polo team, captained by the famous British crack, W. C. Buckmaster, defeat Capt. Milburn's Americans, 3 to 2, at the Hurlingham field on Monday. At the same time, a pickup team, dubbed "The Woodpeckers," defeated an English team at Runleigh 4 to 1. These were the first test matches since the arrival of the Americans.

The game at Hurlingham was sensational, Lord Rocksavage and Capt. Milburn crossed during the second chukker, and both were unhorsed. Rocksavage's collar bone was broken.

J. E. Traill, and Argentinian player, replaced Rocksavage and played a daring game through the remainder of the match.

The American lineup consisted of C. C. Rumsey, Thomas Hitchcock, Watson Webb and Milburn. Their opponents were the duke of Penaranda, Maj. Barrett, Buckmaster and Lord Rocksavage.

Barrett scored first, Rumsey following with a point. Barrett scored again after the Americans had been penalized. Hitchcock evened the score and Penaranga made the winning point.

FROST KILLS MOST OF STRAWBERRY CROP

Seventy-five per cent of the strawberry crop in this region was destroyed by the cold snap and frost which covered this section last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, according to the data furnished the Tribune by W. S. George, proprietor of George's Strawberry farm.

He said that all strawberry growers in this section had had the same difficulty as they had uncovered the new vines just a day or two prior to the heavy frost. The plants will blossom, but the berries will be black in the center and unfit for consumption. The loss will amount to thousands of dollars.

ALONG SENECA ROAD

The Seneca Social Club will meet with Mrs. Wm. Jackson on Friday, May 27th. At this meeting the club will be hostesses to the members of the other groups of the Rural Life Club for this part of Wood county, and it is expected that Mrs. Nellie Keazie Jones, Miss Gladys Stellman and Miss Meloche of Madison will be present.

Mrs. Martin Jackson and children have been visiting friends in Milwaukee the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah DeJardine, who has been visiting at the F. W. Jones home returned to Green Bay last Wednesday.

The Basket Social given at the Jackson school last Friday evening was a very enjoyable affair to those who attended. About $14.00 was realized and will be expended in pictures for the schoolroom.

Miss Agnes Breene of the County Training school conducted the community singing and Prof. M. H. Jackson gave a short talk after which the baskets were sold and a social time enjoyed.

Dainty new blouses and waists to be coveted, attractive to wear this coming summer, from $1.00 to $10.00. I. E. Wilcox, 201 4th Ave. S.

Chronic Constipation

This condition is usually brought on by neglect. Neglect to drink as much water as a healthy person requires, which is three pints each day. Neglect to take enough exercise to keep the body in a healthy condition. Neglect to establish a regular habit of having the bowels move once each day, whether there is an inclination or not. It is obvious that to cure chronic constipation you must first correct your habits. Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent but will not cure you permanently, when these neglects are persisted in. Begin now. Get well and stay well.

the Cream City Athletic club at the Auditorium Monday night and on the strength of his success in sending Richie canvasward on those three occasions, managed to emerge the winner.

The fight itself was a sizzler, in fact one of the most sizzling ever offered by a pair of fighters before a Milwaukee crowd of fans. For ten innings they swung at each other ala Babe Ruth. There were very few dull moments during the course of the proceedings, each gladiator trying his utmost to bring the contest to an abrupt termination.

The fighting Mitchell heart played another important part in the Monday encounter. With the tide of battle against him in the earlier stages the $13,000 or more worth of fans and fanettes saw Mitchell come back in the latter stages and fight Mendelsohn toe to toe. He could not overcome the commanding lead assumed by the Lapham Parker, however, and when the final bell sounded Richie, unmarked by the gruelling combat in which he had engaged, had to be credited with a loss.

TEX RICKARD PICKS OFFICIALS FOR BOUT

New York—So much talk has been heard about the possibility of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout going the limit of twelve rounds without a decision in view of the law governing boxing in New Jersey that Promoter Tex Rickard has about decided on a plan to officially name the winner in any even outside of a knockout.

Realizing that the referee, whoever he will be, will have no power to proclaim the victor, Rickard is thinking of appointing three honorary judges. They will sit at the ringside and in the course of the battle, with the understanding that they will report to him on the evening of July 2, in New York, the result of their findings. The Jersey officials can't object to such an arrangement and Rickard feels that the boxers themsevles should be willing to abide by such a verdict.

Certainly some decision will be necessary in order to settle wagers made on the bout. The contest is, first of all, a sporting proposition, and as such is bound to be the biggest betting occasion in the history of the ring.

Rickard has already picked the judges. They are Lord Lonsdale, the foremost follower of boxing in England and donor of all the championship belts fought for there; Jim Corbett, one-time champion heavyweight, and Jim Jeffries, who also held the title. Lord Lonsdale has been invited to come from England to the bout as Rickard's guest, and so has Jeffries Corbett, who is here, has accepted a similar invitation. Two former champions and the best known sportsman in England, if not in the world! A most notable trio to decide anything of a fistic nature, everybody must agree.

BRITISH POLO TEAM DEFEAT YANK STARS

London—Ten thousand spectators saw an English polo team, captained by the famous British crack, W. C. Buckmaster, defeat Capt. Milburn's Americans, 3 to 2, at the Hurlingham field on Monday. At the same time, a pickup team, dubbed "The Woodpeckers," defeated an English team at Runleigh 4 to 1. These were the first test matches since the arrival of the Americans.

The game at Hurlingham was sensational, Lord Rocksavage and Capt. Milburn crossed during the second chukker, and both were unhorsed. Rocksavage's collar bone was broken.

J. E. Traill, and Argentinian player, replaced Rocksavage and played a daring game through the remainder of the match.

The American lineup consisted of C. C. Rumsey, Thomas Hitchcock, Watson Webb and Milburn. Their opponents were the duke of Penaranda, Maj. Barrett, Buckmaster and Lord Rocksavage.

Barrett scored first, Rumsey following with a point. Barrett scored again after the Americans had been penalized. Hitchcock evened the score and Penaranga made the winning point.

FROST KILLS MOST OF STRAWBERRY CROP

Seventy-five per cent of the strawberry crop in this region was destroyed by the cold snap and frost which covered this section last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, according to the data furnished the Tribune by W. S. George, proprietor of George's Strawberry farm.

He said that all strawberry growers in this section had had the same difficulty as they had uncovered the new vines just a day or two prior to the heavy frost. The plants will blossom, but the berries will be black in the center and unfit for consumption. The loss wil lamount to thousands of dollars.

ALONG SENECA ROAD

The Seneca Social Club will meet with Mrs. Wm. Jackson on Friday, May 27th. At this meeting the club will be hostesses to the members of the other groups of the Rural Life Club for this part of Wood county, and it is expected that Mrs. Nellie Keazie Jones, Miss Gladys Stellman and Miss Meloche of Madison will be present.

Mrs. Martin Jackson and children have been visiting friends in Milwaukee the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Dolardine, who has been visiting at the F. W. Jones home returned to Green Bay last Wednesday.

The Basket Social given at the Jackson school last Friday evening was a very enjoyable affair to those who attended. About $14.00 was realized and will be expended in pictures for the schoolroom.

Miss Agnes Breene of the County Training school conducted the community singing and Prof. M. H. Jackson gave a short talk after which the baskets were sold and a social time enjoyed.

Dainty new blouses and waists to be coveted, attractive to wear this coming summer, from $1.00 to $10.00. I. E. Wilcox, 201 4th Ave. S.

Chronic Constipation

This condition is usually brought on by neglect. Neglect to drink as much water as a healthy person requires, which is three pints each day. Neglect to take enough exercise to keep the body in a healthy condition. Neglect to establish a regular habit of having the bowels move once each day, whether there is an inclination or not. It is obvious that to cure chronic constipation, you must first correct your habits. Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent but will not cure you permanently, when these neglects are persisted in. Begin now. Get well and stay well.

MISS STERLING COMPARED WITH BRITISH CHAMP

AMERICAN LADY GOLF "CHAMP" MAKES FIRST FOREIGN APPEARANCE; IS COMPARED WITH BRITISH "CHAMP"

London—Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga., America's champion golfer now in England as one of the representatives of the United States Golf Association to compete for the British Women's championship title at Turnberry, Scotland, on May 30, made her first appearance in English competition recently at Stoke Poges in the annual match between ten of the best women players and ten leading male amateurs. Each woman was allowed half-a-stroke a hole, Miss Stirling was defeated by R. H. de Montmorency while the British women champion won her match from J. H. Tolley, who beat Robert A. Gardner of Chicago in the final round last year for the British Amateur championship.

Compares Style

An English golfing authority writing in London Daily gives his impression of Miss Stirling's game on her initial appearance abroad and compares her style of play with that of the British champion, Miss Leitch, as follows:

"If there are features of Miss Stirling's play which stand out above everything else they are her steadiness and accuracy. It may be, of course, that she deliberately sacrifices distance to these attributes, and on difficult courses, where nature and man's cunning have full sway, this plan may meet with success. To steer clear of sandy wastes, while your more powerful and dashing opponent is getting into them, has won many a championship.

Hits Ball Firmly

"Probably the shots in which Miss Stirling really excels are the three-quarter iron and mashie strikes. She hits the ball firmly and covers the flag the whole way. Some of these shots were a real joy to watch, because, as a general rule, ladies are woefully inefficient when an iron club is placed in their hands.

"Miss Stirling has brought over with her countless dozens of a certain type of recessed-marking ball. To be quite candid, the ball she was using was too heavy for her, although of limit weight and size, and I agree with Mr. Montmorency that she would have done infinitely better with a lighter ball. Her driving, although straight on the whole, did not altogether impress me, for the reason that there was not enough 'carry' in it. The ball flew at too low an altitude, and notwithstanding that she was constantly playing for a hook, there was not enough run on the ball."

FIVE WATCHES SNAPPED PADDOCKS RECORD MARK

Los Angeles—Five watches, "frozen" at the fifth second mark, which denotes the time made by young Charles Paddock when, on March 26, he finished 220 yards at a Berkeley race in the world's record time of 20 4-5 seconds, are part of the testimony, which will be considered by officers of the A. A. U. in adjudging Paddock's record as official, according to Robert S. Weaver, of Los Angeles, president of the A. A. U.

The watches, with supplemental evidence substantiating the time, are in the hands of Frederick W. Rubiens, secretary of the A. A. U. at 144 Broadway, N. Y., who, in a telegram to the twenty-year-old Californian, a student at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, informally announced recently that he "saw no reason why the Berkeley meet record should not stand."

This is the first time since 1912 that the A. A. U. has had to consider allowing a new world's record in the 220-yard event, it is said, and before granting recognition of a record the necessary steps are many.

Following a race, the judges swear to affidavits stating all conditions were fair and equal, the timers make signed statements giving the time involved and the watchers are checked at the points marked by the timers. These then are sent to the secretary of the A. A. U. in New York, together with all the affidavits, including one from the starter and a special engineer who swears the track was level the distance exact and physical conditions as required.

Received in New York, these are considered by the secretary who makes recommendations and refers the matter to a special committee. After a few months, if favorable consideration results, the record is "allowed".

If Paddock's record stands, it will officially supersede the three former records of 21 1-5 seconds made respectively by Barny Wefers in 1897, Ralph Craig in 1910 and E. J. Lippincott in 1912.

REGULATION BALL IS NEEDED IN MAJORS

New York—The musical rattle of extra base hits is getting so monotonous that big league magnates had better look to the construction of the regulation ball. There were five homers in two of Sunday's games, three in the Dodgers-Cardinal game, won by St. Louis, 10 to 6, at Ebbetts' field, Brooklyn, and two in the Browns-Red Sox game in St. Louis, which the Boston club finally won in the tenth, 11 to 7. Five doubles and a triple furthered the slaughter of the old illustrations as to what the ball was made of in the Brooklyn game and there were five doubles and three triples in St. Louis.

But that was not all.

There were half a dozen doubles in the Yanks-Indians contest in Cleveland which Babe Ruth didn't get a smell of a hit, and four doubles and three triples in the proceedings at Comiskey park, Chicago, which resulted in a defeat of the Athletics, 7 to 3, by the young White Six. Washington and the Tigers whanged out eleven doubles at Detroit. The Tigers won 13 to 10. There was one double at the Polo grounds where the Giants beat the Reds.

ANOTHER MILWAUKEEAN RECEIVES ASTONISHING RESULTS FROM 'KOZAK.'

"Yes, I was in miserable health I before I recently found Kozak" said Mrs A. Ralph, 460 42nd Ave Milwaukee. "Besides being very nervous I had rheumatism and neuralgia so bad that my hands and feet swelled up and my head felt like it would split at times. I was almost helpless, unable to do any hard work. Pains in my head would shoot down my neck, until it would feel stiff and sore. Food formed gas in my stomach.

"A few weeks ago I took Kozak. Today, as a result, I can even do my own washing and feel like myself again. The swelling has gone down and the neuralgia has left me. Kozak also gave me a better appetite, and my food does me good." Kozak sold exclusively by Sam Church.

The

Mystery of the Silver Dagger

By RANDALL PARRISH

Author of "The Strange Case of Cavendish"

Illustrations by A. Weil

Copyright, by Randall Parrish

I was resting on the floor of a bare room of ordinary size, containing no vestige of furniture. The place was cold, with that indescribable chill peculiar to unused apartments, and through the one window, which was unshaded by a curtain, poured the direct light of an almost full moon. In this silvery light every bit of that interior stood revealed in its hideous bareness, the roughly finished walls, the patches of plaster sealed off, the dirty floor, the single door and window, the rags amid which I rested. It was a hopeless scene.

I staggered to my feet reeling a moment like a drunken man, and then finally found my way along the side wall to the window. My strength increased as I advanced, and courage was born with it—I was not dead; I might baffle those villains yet. They must have felt that I was safe enough in this place; that, even if I regained consciousness, no escape was possible, for they had left no guard. A glance without revealed the reason for such confidence. I was four stories up, a sheer brick wall below, and, at the bottom, a concrete walk. There was nothing between to cling to unless it might be the narrow coping of stone just beneath the window sill. I stared at this, almost hopefully, for an instant; then turned my eyes away with a shudder; it was scarcely as broad as the sole of my shoe and to think of creeping along there was merely the dream of a madman. The bright moonlight flooded everything about, yet I saw nothing familiar; I was evidently at the back end of a house, with others closely set on either side, and an alley beyond a small, enclosed yard. This latter was littered with dead weeds and rubbish of every description, and a small shed of some kind extended across the rear. Three stories below, but to the right, a narrow porch protected the back door. There was no movement visible anywhere, no gleam of light from the windows below me. I listened in vain for any sound; the night was as still as death, not even the echo of a distant street-car reaching my ear. I was somewhere within the limits of the city; of that I felt assured, but beyond this could determine nothing.

I stole as silently as possible across to the door. It was securely locked, of course, and could be forced open, if at all, only by creating considerable alarm. I stood, staring helplessly about, feeling the impossibility of escape. I could only wait for my jailers to appear, impotent to aid myself in any way—or her. After all, that last thought was the most impelling. That they suspected Marie Gessler of being implicated in both murder and robbery was clearly evident; indeed, they not only suspected, but were convinced that she had done the deed. I was secretly obliged to admit that they had some reason to so believe; that they even possessed proof which would probably convict her in court of the crime. This gave them a terrible advantage over the girl, once they had her bodily in their possession. Guilty or not guilty, she could not establish her innocence; under torture and threat, such as they would doubtless use in their money lust, there was no knowing what might happen. Alone, helpless in the grasp of these unscrupulous crooks, her fate might be death, disgrace. Certainly it would be foul insult, and, if she failed to yield, the desire for revenge might even drive those cowards to a secret denouncement of her to the police. This, however, would be their last resort; they would exhaust all other efforts first. And no one else knew of her danger; no one else was in position to aid her; she must face this crisis absolutely alone unless I could effect an escape. It was not merely my own life at stake; hers was also in the balance.

And the time in which to act was short. If I escaped at all, it must be accomplished before my jailers returned, before they dreamed that I had aroused from unconsciousness, or had strength enough to make the attempt. Yet what possible way suggested itself? I felt in my pockets; they were utterly empty, except for a single overlooked bill. There was no means of egress other than the window and that seemed hopeless. Yet in desperation I crossed over once more, and again looked out. Could I—dare I—attempt to cling to that slight ledge in my stocking feet, even for the one or two steps necessary to reach the next window? The very conception of such a feat made my head reel giddily and my stomach rise in protest. Besides, even if I made it by some miracle, what if that other window should be closed and locked? How could I ever move backward to regain safety?

Yet wait: there was a way, dangerous enough to be sure, yet possible if I possessed the necessary nerve. There were opened blinds at each window; they would help some as grasping spots for the hands. The one within reach appeared solid enough, firmly anchored to the casement, and secured to the brick wall by means of an iron hook. Between the two the space to be traversed was not wide; a single stride on the ground beneath would bridge the distance. If I had some thing to cling to above—anything that would keep me upright—I might hold my footing on the narrow stone and make the passage slowly. It was a daring, deadly venture, but possible.

But what could I hope to utilize as a support? The bare room offered but a single suggestion—the dirty coverlet which had been thrown over me. Torn apart from corner to corner, and twisted into the form of a rope, it ought to safely sustain my entire weight in case a foot slipped. I started to tear with my teeth, and thus succeeded in ripping the thing from end to end. It was scarcely long enough for the purpose, which compelled me to make the noose correspondingly small. However, with this improvised lasso gripped in my right hand, I took position astride the sill of the window, in an endeavor to project the loosened end over some protuberance of the blind beyond. By holding tight to the frame with my left hand, the right was left free, and I was enabled to lean out far enough to obtain a clear toss. There was little the noose could catch on, and continued failure left me listless and discouraged. I lost hope, yet kept at it, and finally, to my surprise, the ring of the cloth settled over an iron projection of the hinge, and clung there, extending straight across from window to window. I hardly dared breathe as I drew the thing taut and tested the firmness with which it was held at the other end. The noose closed down tightly about the iron staple, and resisted every effort at release. To all seeming it was as safely anchored as though I had placed it there by hand. Somehow the very knowledge that this had been accomplished, that the way was open, brought with it a renewal of the feeling of horror with which I had first contemplated the possibility of such an accomplishment. Would I ever dare the attempt? My head swam as I gazed downward, and then across, and I shrank back absolutely terrified at the very thought.

Yet my nerve returned, and I found myself cool and determined. It was no pleasant job, to be sure, and I was compelled to steel myself to the attempt, yet I no longer held back paralyzed by fear. I easily found a secure fastening for the strip of bed-spread at my own window, and then, satisfied that it was taut and securely held at both ends, lowered my body cautiously over the sill, until my stockinged feet nervously gripped the narrow stone of the coping. I dare not look down or permit my mind to dwell for an instant on what was below. Slowly I straightened up, until my entire weight was upheld by this precarious foot-hold. To advance step by step was impossible; all I could hope to accomplish in locomotion was to stealthily advance one foot a few inches, sliding it along the stone, ever retaining contact, and then, as carefully drawing the other after until they met, toe and heel. It was the slow progress of a snail, yet the slightest effort at hurrying would mean a certain fall.

This was not unduly perilous, however, so long as I retained firm hold on the sill, or even could grip my fingers over the lower frame of the open blind, as I was enabled thus to partially sustain my weight, and, even if a foot slipped, the feel of the solid wood yielded confidence. But finally my hand reached out and grasped only the cloth cord, twisted into some semblance of a rope, and, as it gave sickeningly to the pressure, the old fear swept over me in a torrent of agony. I could never make it—never! I would go swirling, crashing down to that death below. It was but a step, to be sure; a step and I could reach the firmness of the other blind; but, oh, the step—the speechless horror of it! Yet there was no going backward: I tried this, only to realize at once its impossibility, and the perspiration burst out from every pore, as the full horror of my situation suddenly flashed over me. I must go on, trusting to that thin, unstable cord, balancing myself above the gulf. There was no other way, no retreat, no means of escape. I do not know now how the act was accomplished; it is hardly a memory, except as some wild delirium of steep haunts one when they awake. Inch by inch I crept, hand encroaching on hand, foot pressing against foot, every slightest movement an inexpressible agony—then I gripped the support of wood once more, and clung to it as with the grasp of death.

I clung there until my mind came back, until I felt the return of strength to my body, and I could look down through the moonlight without reeling dizzily. The blind was strong, firmly braced, and I felt safe in its protection. But what about the window beyond? Suppose it should be locked? or the room into which I opened, occupied? I could not continue to cling there in uncertainty: I must learn the truth—assure myself that I had not passed through all this tense agony in vain.

BUTTER MARKET AGAIN ACTIVE

BUYERS SHOW INTEREST IN BUTTER; EGG MARKET REMAINS WEAK; POTATOES REMAIN THE SAME

After the large declines established in the local butter market the past week it was only natural that there should be some improvement, and action yesterday was comparatively good. Buying was seemingly regular of the best grades and the demand mainly for immediate delivery, although fair buying orders were uncovered for standards for future account. The latter had a tendency to confirm the belief that many dealers are commencing to think that the bottom has been reached, and that a great deal of the buying for some time to come will be for future account. While al lthis is tending to steady the situation no on cbelieves in any higher prices in the near future and on this account there are any number of receivers that are not backward in disposing of present holdings in order to keep their plates clean should the market work contrary than expected. However, a serious decline is not expected and should a break occur it is thought that it will be of short duration, and in the end materialize in a general upward tendency. Receipts show an increase, some 14,811 tubs in yesterday, and from this it is gathered that the season of production is now on.

The local egg market lacks activity, and with just a fair trade doing dealers are indifferent as to price, and in the main former levels were realized. Offerings are quite large, but most of the stock on hand was taken in at higher figures and holders are willing to take the losses required to make sales at present. It was reported that there were 128 cars on track and of this quantity 80 cars were carried over. Seemingly too much on sale for current needs, but expectations are for an increase in storage holdings and this will very likely reduce present available supplies. Receipts yesterday were 34,858 cases.

The cheese market was weaker and prices lower all around. Offerings quite large, and consist mainly of carried over stock. Buyers not interested even though prices are the lowest they have been for years.

Live poultry was weaker for some kinds and firmer for others. Broilers wer lowered 5c, and ooters elevated in price 1c. Heavy supplies of the former responsible for the sharp break.

Potatoes were unchanged and there was a fair trade doing. Receipts were 84 cars, and there were 198 cars on track. New potatoes are coming to hand more freely and cutting into the trade for old.

CAMP DOUGLAS WILL HAVE A BUSY SUMMER

BUSIEST SUMMER IN PEACE TIME IS LOOKED FORWARD TO BY THE ADJUTANT GENERAL: PERIODS OF ENCAMPMENT

Madison — Wisconsin will become the training ground this summer for the largest gathering of federal and state troops ever brought together at a state encampment in peace time if plans of Adjutant General Orlando Holway, of the Wisconsin National Guard are carried out.

Will Make "Hike"

The First regiment of Field Artillery of the 6th Division, of federal unit, will give southern Wisconsin a reminder of war days when it goes into training at Wisconsin summer camp according to tentative plans of the United States war department. The regiment is scheduled to march full equipment from Camp Grant, Illinois, to Camp Douglas where maneuvers will be held.

The field artillery of the 52nd and 53rd divisions, comprising units from Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, and Minnesota will go into camp at Douglas later in the summer. This will bring into the state a large number of troops and make Wisconsin the military center of state organizations of the central west.

Infantry Camp in June

All of the 64th Infantry Brigade of Wisconsin will encamp on June 18-30. This unit numbering about 2,000 men together with the regular units of about 3,000 will convert Camp Douglas into a training ground equalled in activity only by the mobilization of forces during the summer of 1917 when state troops were training prior to entraining for Texas camps and overseas duty.

Wisconsin cavalry units and combat units will go into training at Camp Grant on August 6. The Wisconsin tank corps will also train at Camp Grant but the date has as yet not been decided.

Officers School June 20-23

Schools for all commissioned officers of the Wisconsin National Guard, with the exception of field artillery officers, will be held at Camp Douglas June 20 and 23 inclusive. The school for officers of field artillery of the Sixth Corps Area including the artillery officers of the Wisconsin National Guard, will promptly be held at Camp Grant the adjutant said. The exact dates will not be decided upon until later.

All units of the 64th Infantry Brigade of the Wisconsin National Guard will encamp at Douglas July 18 to 30, inclusive. The encampment of all other units of the Wisconsin guard, with the exception of the cavalry, field artillery, and tank corps, will be held at Camp Douglas August 1 to 13, inclusive.

The cavalry units, inclusive of artillery, horse, and regular cavalry mounted, of the Wisconsin guard, will participate in the camp of instruction, together with all other cavalry units of the Sixth Corps Area, at Camp Grant August 6 to 30, inclusive.

Artillery Camps Later

All units of field artillery of the Wisconsin guard will encamp at Douglas July 25 to August 10 inclusive. Because of the high power of the artillery now used by the government, the adjutant general is discouraging artillery practice at Camp Douglas. Built for ranges of but 2,500 yards the modern guns capable of destruction at 7,000 yards will be a source of danger to the surrounding territory the general feel.

Coming at different times during the summer, the total number of troops at the camp at one time will be between 2,000 and 3,000. About 7,000 men are expected to go into Douglas during the encampment.

SARATOGA COUPLE MARRIED AT NEKOOSA

Miss Gladys Ross and Andrew Halton Anderson, were united in marriage this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Congregational church in Nekoosa, by Rev. O'Neill, pastor of the church. The wedding party entered the church, to the strains of Mendelsohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. William Hooper. The bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Ross, gowned in light blue satin, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations came first and proceeded down the aisle to the altar.

She was followed by the bride, very lovely in her white satin bridal robe. Her wedding veil of white tulle was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried on her arm a bouquet of white roses and ferns. They were met at the altar by the groom and his brother, John Anderson, who attended as groomsman.

Following the ceremony the bridal party returned to Saratoga, to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, where a wedding breakfast was served to immediate relatives and a few invited guests. The house was decorated with floral wedding bells and evergreens. A large crystal vase filled with roses and ferns was the attractive center piece at the bride's table.

The bride was born and brought up in Saratoga where she received her early edication, later attending High School in Nekoosa and also taking a course at the Business College at Wisconsin Rapids. During the past three years she has been employed as stenographer by the F. Mackinnon Co. of this city. She is very popular with al lher many friends in Saratoga and Wisconsin Rapids. The groom was also born, brought up and educated in Saratoga. He is in the employ of the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co. in the shipping room in their mill at Nekoosa.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will return to Saratoga, where they will reside at the home of the bride's parents.

FINDS WISCONSIN LIKE DRY RULE

Is Wisconsin satisfied with prohibition? Apparently it is, if random opinions gathered by the Anti-Saloon league are conclusive.

A Milwaukee grand jury last December petitioned congress to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and wine. To get popular opinion, the Anti-Saloon league of Wisconsin sent a questionnaire to 500 manufacturers, bankers and business men in all counties except Milwaukee. One hundred and sixty-six were received, with this result:

Favor beer and wine—No, 144; yes, 12.

Favor old style saloon—No, 155; yes, 7.

Favor continuing prohibition—Yes, 149; No, 11.

Favor strengthening state law—Yes, 117; No, 11.

"Eighty-nine and seven-tenths per cent," the Anti-Saloon league says, "favored continuing prohibition, and 85.5 per cent favored strengthening the law.

"The men making these answers had business records before them and therefore were not merely voicing a personal opinion or prejudice.

"Two hundred and fifty questionnaires were sent to farmers, with this result:

Favor brewing to provide market for barley—No, 97; yes, 2.

Favor beer and wine saloon—No, 98; yes, 3.

Favor old style saloon—No, 100; yes, 1.

Favor strengthening dry law—Yes, 95; No, 2.

Say Law Not Enforced

"Sixty-one per cent of the farmers", the league says, "said the law had not been well enforced in their localities. Yet the vote was 100 to 1 against the old saloon, 98 to 3 against the beer saloon, 97 to 2 against reopening brewing to provide a market for their barley, and 95 to 2 in favor of strengthening our law."

RADIUM CURES ALL CANCER-MME. CURIE

New York—"Radium has cured all kinds of cancer, even that which is deep rooted," said Mme Curie, discoverer of the wonderful element, who is visiting America. "But radium can be properly used only by those of the medical profession who know how to use it. When used by these experts cancer of any kind can be cured."

THEATRES

PALACE THEATER

When Adam yielded to Eve and ate the fatal apple, he didn't know he was furnishing the theme for the feature picture at the Palace theater tonight. But it's the truth.

Not that Lois Weber's latest picture, "To Please One Woman," has pre-historic settings or is one second later than up-to-the-minute. But the habit Adam started of doing foolish things to please the ladies persists today, and Miss Weber has graphically portrayed just what happens when an unsophisticated young man tries to satisfy the whims of a pretty and selfish woman with a tendency to "vamp" all and sundry.

"To Please One Woman" is a good picture. It's life—not only as it is led in the seaside village of Seagirt, which is the locale of the story—but as one meets it is New York or Napa. The central characters, as noted before, are a selfish woman and a gullible man. In love with the latter is a nice girl. She sees her romance shattered by her sweetheart's infatuation for his flashy charmer. More than that, the latter's influence spreads like a blight through the innocent girl's family. But before the film flashes "finis" the "vamp" meets her reward, and good old true love comes into its own.

You'll like "To Please One Woman." Maybe it's partly on account of the good cast Miss Weber assembled. There's Claire Windsor, a good-looking blonde and a newcomer to pictures; Mona Lisa, the "vamp" with the wonderful eyes; the veteran Edwards Burns, Edith Kessler, George Hackathorne, and other. Miss Weber wrote and directed the picture, which is a Paramount.

MISS STERLING COMPARED WITH BRITISH CHAMP

AMERICAN LADY GOLF "CHAMP" MAKES FIRST FOREIGN APPEARANCE; IS COMPARED WITH BRITISH "CHAMP"

London—Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga., America's champion golfer now in England as one of the representatives of the United States Golf Association to compete for the British Women's championship title at Turnberry, Scotland, on May 20, made her first appearance in English competition recently at Stoke Poges in the annual match between ten of the best women players and ten leading male amateurs. Each woman was allowed half-a-stroke a hole, Miss Stirling was defeated by R. H. de Montmorency while the British women champion won her match from J. H. Tolley, who beat Robert A. Gardner of Chicago in the final round last year for the British Amateur championship.

Compares Style

An English golfing authority writing in London Daily gives his impression of Miss Stirling's game on her initial appearance abroad and compares her style of play with that of the British champion, Miss Leitch, as follows:

"If there are features of Miss Stirling's play which stand out above everything else they are her steadiness and accuracy. It may be, of course, that she deliberately sacrifices distance to these attributes, and on difficult courses, where nature and man's cunning have full sway, this plan may meet with success. To steer clear of sandy wastes, while your more powerful and dashing opponent is getting into them, has won many a championship.

Hits Ball Firmly

"Probably the shots in which Miss Stirling really excels are the three-quarter iron and mashie strikes. She hits the ball firmly and covers the flag the whole way. Some of these shots were a real joy to watch, because, as a general rule, ladies are woefully inefficient when an iron club is placed in their hands.

"Miss Stirling has brought over with her countless dozens of a certain type of recessed-marking ball. To be quite candid, the ball she was using was too heavy for her, although of limit weight and size, and I agree with Mr. Montmorency that she would have done infinitely better with a lighter ball. Her driving, although straight on the whole, did not altogether impress me, for the reason that there was not enough 'carry' in it. The ball flew at too low an altitude, and notwithstanding that she was constantly playing for a hook, there was not enough 'n on the ball."

FIVE WATCHES SNAPPED PADDOCKS RECORD MARK

Los Angeles—Five watches, "frozen" at the fifth second mark, which denotes the time made by young Charles Paddock when, on March 26, he finished 220 yards at a Berkeley race in the world's record time of 20 4-5 seconds, are part of the testimony, which will be considered by officers of the A. A. U. in adjudging Paddock's record as official, according to Robert S. Weaver, of Los Angeles, president of the A. A. U.

The watches, with supplemental evidence substantiating the time, are in the hands of Frederick W. Rubicas, secretary of the A. A. U. at 144 Broadway, N. Y. who, in a telegram to the twenty-year-old Californian, a student at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, informally announced recently that he "saw no reason why the Berkeley meet record should not stand."

This is the first time since 1912 that the A. A. U. has had to consider allowing a new world's record in the 220-yard event, it is said, and before granting recognition of a record the necessary steps are many.

Following a race, the judges swear to affidavits stating all conditions were fair and equal, the timers make signed statements giving the time involved and the watchers are checked at the points marked by the timers. These then are sent to the secretary of the A. A. U. in New York, together with all the affidavits, including one from the starter and a special engineer who swears the track was level the distance exact and physical conditions as required.

Received in New York, these are considered by the secretary who makes recommendations and refers the matter to a special committee. After a few months, if favorable consideration results, the record is "allowed".

If Paddock's record stands, it will officially supersede the three former records of 21 1-5 seconds made respectively by Barny Wefers in 1897, Ralph Craig in 1910 and E. J. Lippincott in 1912.

REGULATION BALL IS NEEDED IN MAJORS

New York—The musical rattle of extra base hits is getting so monotonous that big league magnates had better look to the construction of the regulation ball. There were five homers in two of Sunday's games, three in the Dodgers-Cardinal game, won by St. Louis, 10 to 6, at Ebbetts' field, Brooklyn, and two in the Browns-Red Sox game in St. Louis, which the Boston club finally won in the tenth, 11 to 7. Five doubles and a triple furthered the slaughter of the old illustrations as to what the ball was made of in the Brooklyn game and there were five doubles and three triples in St. Louis.

But that was not all.

There were half a dozen doubles in the Yanks-Indians contest in Cleveland which Babe Ruth didn't get a smell of a hit, and four doubles and three triples in the proceedings at Comiskey park, Chicago, which resulted in a defeat of the Athletics, 7 to 3, by the young White Sox. Washington and the Tigers whanged out eleven doubles at Detroit. The Tigers won 13 to 10. There was one double at the Polo grounds where the Giants beat the Reds.

ANOTHER MILWAUKEEAN RECEIVES ASTONISHING RESULTS FROM 'KOZAK.'

"Yes, I was in miserable health before I recently found Kozak" said Mrs A. Ralph, 460 42nd Ave Milwaukee. "Besides being very nervous I had rheumatism and neuralgia so bad that my hands and feet swelled up and my head felt like it would split at times. I was almost helpless, unable to do any hard work. Pains in my head would shoot down my neck, until it would feel stiff and sore. Food formed gas in my stomach.

"A few weeks ago I took Kozak. Today, as a result, I can even do my own washing and feel like myself again. The swelling has gone down and the neuralgia has left me. Kozak also gave me a better appetite, and my food does me good." Kozak sold exclusively by Sam Church.

LEGISLATURE TO FINISH BUSINESS BY JUNE TENTH

LEGISLATURE PASSES ON BILLS AND DOES NOT DELAY; COMMITTEE REPORTS HELP SITUATION

Madison—The legislative grist mill is beginning to grind more rapidly now that many of the committees have practically completed their work and are reporting out their bills. Encouraged by their success in giving final disposition to many important measures last week both houses are facing a heavy calendar this week with the determination not to delay action on bills except when absolutely necessary.

Increase Compensation

One of the most important bills before the assembly is Assemblyman Schtjen's measure increasing the maximum compensation to be allowed injured workmen under the compensation law from $14.63 to $19.50.

This bill is on Tuesday's calendar and has the endorsement of the labor committee of the lower house. It was introduced at the request of the Industrial commission. Manufacturers generally testified at the committee hearings that they are opposed to any increase in the maximum compensation at the present time.

Home rule for cities will again come before the lower house, and in view of the large vote by which the home rule resolution received engrossment, it is not considered probable that further efforts will be made to prevent final passage. The question, in that case, will go to a vote of the people.

The senate will also take final action upon Assemblyman Ruffing's joint resolution to permit cities to increase their bonded indebtedness from 5 per cent to 10 per cent. This bill will also go to a vote of the people if finally approved.

The senate will also vote upon the question of submitting a constitutional amendment to the people giving the legislature the power to fix the salary of the governor, which salary must not be less than $5,000 net. The present salary of the governor is $5,000, but no provision is made for travelling expenses or other expenses incidental to his office.

Senator Benfey's bill to prohibit political parties from giving extra compensation to members of the legislature in any form whatever will be passed upon this week. This measure is being opposed by the socialists.

The bill providing for the registration of nurses and better control of nursing schools by the board of health is upon this week's calendar. Senator Bennett has a bill strengthening the law, which fixes railway fares at two cents a mile.

Work of the committee appointed to investigate commission was at a standstill during the past week due to the absence of some of the members. Chairman Roethe declares that further hearings will be held during the week in order to get a bill incorporating the committee's recommendations before the legislature very shortly.

It is not expected that the committees appointed to investigate the various proposed state parks will make any recommendations until all the committees are ready to report.

PLAY GOOD BALL IN LAKE SHORE LEAGUE

Snappy fielding and sharp hitting featured the Lake Shore league games Sunday, with Juneau, Manitowoc and Sheboygan as the winning clubs. Lange's Red Sox were the victims at Juneau, but it took the home club eleven innings to get the vedict by a 2 to 1 score, on a savage homer by Rightfielder Simmons, Juneau. It was a great game, despite the cold weather. Jim Dodge, for the Sox, was the loser but was touched up for only five hits, while the losers got eight off Heath. Dodge fanned 16 Juneau batsmen and Heath struck out 7.

Manitowoc trimmed Green Bay, 5 to 3, by sharp hitting and the ability of Dick Crutcher to hold the Bay batters safe in the pinches. A big crowd turned out, despite arctic conditions.

Buster Braun was too much for Two Rivers Sunday, as a result of which the Sheboygan outfit gave their home folks a pleasant thrill and a 5 to 0 victory in a great ball game Braun was invincible, allowing but one hit, a two-bagger by Lathrop's slants, and they bunched them. It was enough. Braun whiffed 10 batsmen and passed but 2.

WEEKLY CHEESE REPORT STATE OF WISCONSIN

WM. J. ANDERSON

Madison, Wis.—The most important fact in the cheese field in Wisconsin is that the state Division of Markets has adopted a tentative classification for foreign cheese. Necessarily standardization and grading of Swiss cheese must be on a different basis from that of American Cheddar. Instead of the product being marketed soon after manufacture the Swiss cheese is held at the factory until ripened to a desirable flavor. The tentative rules for grading prepared by the Division of Markets refer to cheese which has been held or ripened sufficiently so that its quality can be determined.

Swiss cheese are marketed largely in two shapes, known as the Wheel or Drum Swiss and the block Swiss. The former vary as to size and weight. Swiss cheese, the rules say shall be classified according to the size of the characteristic "eye" or opening which may be perfectly developed, glossy with smooth even surface, circular or oval shaped and uniformly distributed throughout the cheese. There will be three classes then of this cheese: Open, medium-circular or oval shaped, and uniform and blind. The Open is that having charasteristic "eyes" or openings not less than half-inch in diameter, glossy, without irregularity, circular or ovay shaped, and uniformly distributed. Medium-eyed is that having eyes less than half-inch in diameter, glossy, without irregularity, circular or oval shaped and evenly distributed. Blind is that Swiss cheese lacking the characteristic eyes or opening.

It should be understood that the classification is only tentative as yet. If finally adopted it will go into effect in July.

The grades of Swiss Cheese will be determined on the basis of the following scores: Flavor 45, texture 25, finish and appearance 15, color 10, salt 5—total 100.

Grade 1 — Under the proposed classification must score above 93, be mild in flavor, clean and pleasing.

Grade 1 must score 91 to 93 inclusive.

Grade 2 must score 87 and below 91. It must show slight taints or slightly objectionable flavors.

Grade 3 will score 87 and may show distinct off flavors, unclean, gasy, bitter, sour or rancid.

In this correspondence next week further space will be given to the tentative classification rules as to foreign cheese prepared by the state Division of Markets.

The foreign cheese producers of Wisconsin have organized a cooperative association for markets for the entire country, this organization has more than a state significance. The new association will not attempt to market any cheese this year but will devote its attention to signing up factories, in the seven counties which control the output of limberger and Swiss block and brick cheese in the United States. The officers of the new organization are: President, F. J. McConnell, Darlington; Vice-president, L. S. Smith, Fond du Lac; Secretary, Conrad Pilz, Browntown; Treasurer, A. C. Arneson, Barnevald The other members of the board of directors are: C. G. Gibble, Randolph Wm. Bradley, Randolph; and Reuben J. Paulson, Riley.

The completion of the new marketing organization taken in connection with the proposed grading of foreign cheese by the Division of Markets marks an important epoch in the field of cheese production of Wisconsin. Before long there will be probably at Milwaukee a foreign cheese board that will have an importance in its field corresponding to that of Plymouth in the American cheese would.

CAMP DOUGLAS WILL HAVE A BUSY SUMMER

BUSIEST SUMMER IN PEACE TIME IS LOOKED FORWARD TO BY THE ADJUTANT GENERAL: PERIODS OF ENCAMPMENT

Madison — Wisconsin will become the training ground this summer for the largest gathering of federal and state troops ever brought together at a state encampment in peace time if plans of Adjutant General Orlando Holway, of the Wisconsin National Guard are carried out.

Will Make "Hike"

The First regiment of Field Artillery of the 6th Division, of federal unit, will give southern Wisconsin a reminder of war days when it goes into training at Wisconsin summer camp according to tentative plans of the United States war department. The regiment is scheduled to march full equipment from Camp Grant, Illinois, to Camp Douglas where maneuvers will be held.

The field artillery of the 32nd and 33rd divisions, comprising units from Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, and Minnesota will go into camp at Douglas later in the summer. This will bring into the state a large number of troops and make Wisconsin the military center of state organizations of the central west.

Infantry Camp in June

All of the 64th Infantry Brigade of Wisconsin will encamp on June 18th. This unit numbering about 2,900 men together with the regular forces of about 3,000 will convert Camp Douglas into a training ground equalled in activity only by the mobilization of forces during the summer of 1917 when state troops were in training prior to entraining for Texas camps and overseas duty.

Wisconsin cavalry units and combat engineers will go into training at Camp Grant on August 6. The Wisconsin tank corps will also train at Camp Grant but the date has as yet not been decided.

Officers School June 20-23

Schools for all commissioned officers of the Wisconsin National Guard, with the exception of field artillery officers, will be held at Camp Douglas on June 20 and 23 inclusive. The school for officers of field artillery of the Sixth Corps Area, including the artillery officers of the Wisconsin National Guard, will probably be held at Camp Grant the adjutant said. The exact dates will not be decided upon until later.

All units of the 64th Infantry Brigade of the Wisconsin National Guard will encamp at Douglas July 18 to 30, inclusive. The encampment of all other units of the Wisconsin guard, with the exception of the cavalry, field artillery, and tank corps, will be held at Camp Douglas August 1 to 13, inclusive.

The cavlry units, inclusive of artillery, horsed, and combat engineers, mounted, of the Wisconsin guard, will participate in the camp of instruction, together with all other cavalry units of the Sixth Corps Area, at Camp Grant August 6 to 30, inclusive.

Artillery Camps Later

All units of field artillery of the Wisconsin guard will encamp at Douglas July 25 to August 10 inclusive. Because of the high power of the artillery now used by the government, the adjutant general is discouraging artillery practice at Camp Douglas. Built for ranges of but 2,500 yards the modern guns capable of destruction at 7,000 yards will be a source of danger to the surrounding territory the general feels.

Coming at different times during the summer, the total number of troops at the camp at one time will be between 2,000 and 3,000. About 7,000 men are expected to go into training during the encampment.

SARATOGA COUPLE MARRIED AT NEKOOSA

Miss Gladys Ross and Andrew Halton Anderson, were united in marriage this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Congregational church in Nekoosa, by Rev. O'Neill, pastor of the church. The wedding party entered the church, to the strains of Mendelsohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. William Hooper. The bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Ross, gowned in light blue satin, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations came first and proceeded down the aisle to the altar.

She was followed by the bride, very lovely in her white satin bridal robe. Her wedding veil of white tulle was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried on her arm a bouquet of white roses and ferns. They were met at the altar by the groom and his brother, John Anderson, who attended as groomsman.

Following the ceremony the bridal party returned to Saratoga, to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, where a wedding breakfast was served to immediate relatives and a few invited guests. The house was decorated with floral wedding bells and evergreens. A large crystal vase filled with roses and ferns was the attractive center piece at the bride's table.

The bride was born and brought up in Saratoga where she received her early education, later attending High School in Nekoosa and also taking a course at the Business College at Wisconsin Rapids. During the past three years she has been employed as stenographer by the F. Mackinnon Co. of this city. She is very popular with all her many friends in Saratoga and Wisconsin Rapids. The groom was also born, brought up and educated in Saratoga. He is in the employ of the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co. in the shipping room in their mill at Nekoosa.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will return to Saratoga where they will reside at the home of the bride's parents.

FINDS WISCONSIN LIKE DRY RULE

Is Wisconsin satisfied with prohibition? Apparently it is, if random opinions gathered by the Anti-Saloon league are conclusive.

A Milwaukee grand jury last December petitioned congress to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and wine. To get popular opinion, the Anti-Saloon league of Wisconsin sent a questionnaire to 500 manufacturers, bankers and business men in all counties except Milwaukee. One hundred and sixty-six were received, with this result:

Favor beer and wine—No, 144; yes, 12.

Favor old style saloon—No, 155; yes, 7.

Favor continuing prohibition—Yes, 149; No, 11.

Favor strengthening state law—Yes, 147; No, 11.

"Eighty-nine and seven-tenths per cent," the Anti-Saloon league says, "favored continuing prohibition, and 85.5 per cent favored strengthening the law.

"The men making these answers had business records before them and therefore were not merely voicing a personal opinion or prejudice.

Two hundred and fifty questionnaires were sent to farmers, with this result:

Favor brewing to provide market for barley—No, 97; yes, 2.

Favor beer and wine saloon—No, 98; yes, 3.

Favor old style saloon—No, 100; yes, 1.

Favor strengthening dry law—Yes, 95; No, 2.

Say Law Not Enforced

"Sixty-one per cent of the farmers", the league says, "said the law had not been well enforced in their localities. Yet the vote was 100 to 1 against the old saloon, 98 to 3 against the beer saloon, 97 to 2 against reopening brewing to provide a market for their barley, and 95 to 2 in favor of strengthening our law."

THEATRES

PALACE THEATER

When Adam yielded to Eve and ate the fatal apple, he didn't know he was furnishing the theme for the feature picture at the Palace theater tonight. But it's the truth.

Not that Lois Weber's latest picture, "To Please One Woman," has pre-historic settings or is one second later than up-to-the-minute. But the habit Adam started of doing foolish things to please the ladies persists today, and Miss Weber has graphically portrayed just what happens when an unsophisticated young man tries to satisfy the whims of a pretty and selfish woman with a tendency to "vamp" all and sundry.

"To Please One Woman" is a good picture. It's life—not only as it is lived in the seaside village of Seagirt, which is the locale of the story—but as one meets it is New York or Nipa. The central characters, as noted before, are a selfish woman and a gullible man. In love with the latter is a nice girl. She sees her romance shattered by her sweetheart's infatuation for his flashy charmer. More than that, the latter's influence spreads like a blight through the innocent girl's family. But before the film flashes "finis" the "vamp" meets her reward and good old true love comes into its own.

Charming new spring and summer dresses, imported materials of linen, organdie, wool challies and gingham, hand embroidered and filet lace trimmed. Ready-to-Wear Parlors. I. E. Wilcox.

You'll like "To Please One Woman." Maybe it's partly on account of the good cast Miss Weber assembled. There's Claire Windsor, a good-looking blonde and a newcomer to pictures; Mona Lisa, the "vamp" with the wonderful eyes; the veteran Edwards Burns, Edith Kessler, George Hackathorne, and other. Miss Weber wrote and directed the picture, which is a Paramount.

LEGISLATURE TO FINISH BUSINESS BY JUNE TENTH

LEGISLATURE PASSES ON BILLS AND DOES NOT DELAY; COMMITTEE REPORTS HELP SITUATION

Madison—The legislative grist mill is beginning to grind more rapidly now that many of the committees have practically completed their work and are reporting out their bills. Encouraged by their success in giving final disposition to many important measures last week both houses are facing a heavy calendar this week with the determination not to delay action on bills except when absolutely necessary.

Increase Compensation

One of the most important bills before the assembly is Assemblyman Schtjen's measure increasing the maximum compensation to be allowed injured workmen under the compensation law from $14.63 to $19.50.

This bill is on Tuesday's calendar and has the endorsement of the labor committee of the lower house. It was introduced at the request of the Industrial commission. Manufacturers generally testified at the committee hearings that they are opposed to any increase in the maximum compensation at the present time.

Home rule for cities will again come before the lower house, and in view of the large vote by which the home rule resolution received engrossment, it is not considered probable that further efforts will be made to prevent final passage. The question, in that case, will go to a vote of the people.

The senate will also take final action upon Assemblyman Rulling's joint resolution to permit cities to increase their bonded indebtedness from 5 per cent to 10 per cent. This bill will also go to a vote of the people if finally approved.

The senate will also vote upon the question of submitting a constitutional amendment to the people giving the legislature the power to fix the salary of the governor, which salary must not be less than $5,000 net. The present salary of the governor is $5,000, but no provision is made for travelling expenses or other expenses incidental to his office.

Senator Benfey's bill to prohibit political parties from giving extra compensation to members of the legislature in any form whatever will be passed upon this week. This measure is being opposed by the socialists.

The bill providing for the registration of nurses and better control of nursing schools by the board of health is upon this week's calendar. Senator Bennett has a bill strengthening the law, which fixes railway fares at two cents a mile.

Work of the committee appointed to investigate commission was at a standstill during the past week due to the absence of some of the members. Chairman Roethe declares that further hearings will be held during the week in order to get a bill incorporating the committee's recommendations before the legislature very shortly.

It is not expected that the committees appointed to investigate the various proposed state parks will make any recommendations until all the committees are ready to report.

PLAY GOOD BALL IN LAKE SHORE LEAGUE

Snappy fielding and sharp hitting featured the Lake Shore league games Sunday, with Juneau, Manitowoc and Sheboygan as the winning clubs. Lange's Red Sox were the victims at Juneau, but it took the home club eleven innings to get the vedict by a 2 to 1 score, on a savage homer by Rightfielder Simmons, Juneau. It was a great game, despite the cold weather. Jim Dodge, for the Sox, was the loser but was touched up for only five hits, while the losers got eight off Heath. Dodge fanned 16 Juneau batsmen and Heath struck out 7.

Manitowoc trimmed Green Bay, 5 to 3, by sharp hitting and the ability of Dick Crutcher to hold the Bay batters safe in the pinches. A big crowd turned out, despite arctic conditions.

Buster Braun was too much for Two Rivers Sunday, as a result of which the Sheboygan outfit gave their home folks a pleasant thrill and a 5 to 0 victory in a great ball game. Braun was invincible, allowing but one hit, a two-bagger by Lathrop's slants, and they bunched them. It was enough. Braun whiffed 10 batsmen and passed but 2.

WEEKLY CHEESE REPORT STATE OF WISCONSIN

WM. J. ANDERSON

Madison, Wis.—The most important fact in the cheese field in Wisconsin is that the state Division of Markets has adopted a tentative classification for foreign cheese. Necessarily standardization and grading of Swiss cheese must be on a different basis from that of American Cheddar. Instead of the product being marketed soon after manufacture the Swiss cheese is held at the factory until ripened to a desirable flavor. The tentative rules for grading prepared by the Division of Markets refer to cheese which has been held or ripened sufficiently so that its quality can be determined.

Swiss cheese are marketed largely in two shapes, known as the Wheel or Drum Swiss and the block Swiss. The former vary as to size and weight. Swiss cheese, the rules say shall be classified according to the size of the characteristic "eye" or opening which may be perfectly developed, glossy with smooth even surface, circular or oval shaped and uniformly distributed throughout the cheese. There will be three classes then of this cheese: Open, medium-circular or oval shaped, and uni-eyed and blind. The Open is that having charasteristic "eyes" or openings not less than half-inch in diameter, glossy, without irregularity, circular or ovay shaped, and uniformly distributed. Medium-eyed is that having eyes less than half-inch in diameter, glossy, without irregularity, circular or oval shaped and evenly distributed. Blind is that Swiss cheese lacking the characteristic eyes or opening.

It should be understood that the classification is only tentative as yet. If finally adopted it will go into effect in July.

The grades of Swiss Cheese will be determined on the basis of the following scores: Flavor 45, texture 25, finish and appearance 15, color 10, salt 5—total 100.

Grade 1 — Under the proposed classification must score above 93, be mild in flavor, clean and pleasing.

Grade 1 must score 91 to 93 inclusive.

Grade 2 must score 87 and below 91. It must show slight taints or slightly objectionable flavors.

Grade 3 will score 87 and may show distinct off flavors, unclean, gasy, bitter, sour or rancid.

In this correspondence next week further space will be given to the tentative classification rules as to foreign cheese prepared by the state Division of Markets.

The foreign cheese producers of Wisconsin have organized a cooperative association for markets for the entire country, this organization has more than a state significance. The new association will not attempt to market any cheese this year but will devote its attention to signing up factories, in the seven counties which control the output of limberger and Swiss block and brick cheese in the United States. The officers of the new organization are: President, F. J. McConnell, Darlington; Vice-president, L. S. Smith, Fond du Lac; Secretary, Conrad Pilz, Browntown; Treasurer, A. C. Arneson, Barneveld. The other members of the board of directors are: C. G. Gibble, Randolph Wm. Bradley, Randolph; and Reuben J. Paulson, Riley.

The completion of the new marketing organization taken in connection with the proposed grading of foreign cheese by the Division of Markets marks an important epoch in the field of cheese production of Wisconsin. Before long there will be probably at Milwaukee a foreign cheese board that will have an importance in its field corresponding to that of Plymouth in the American cheese world.

Dislocated Her Shoulder

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, Fergus Falls, Minn. fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Liniment advertised for sprains and soreness and she asked him to buy a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved the pain and soreness and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. If you are troubled with rheumatism, give Chamberlains'n's Liniment a trial. It is excellent. — Advertisement.
